Montreal 23rd March 1876

The Chairman & members of the Market Committee -
 Gentlemen

In answer to a resolution adopted by your Committee on the 4th instant, I beg to submit the following as my opinion on the two points mentioned in said resolution.

1st Are market dues collectable from habitants or traders any where but on the markets?

The market dues can be collected only from parties who arrive at the market and obtain a place where they can sell their articles; it is only then that they become indebted for the dues - as to parties selling on the streets and outside of the public markets they can be brought before the Recorder and condemned to pay a fine if they failed to procure a license; they surely cannot be called upon to pay market dues if they have sold nothing on the markets.

2^d Does the jurisdiction of the market dues clerks extend to steamboats?

The city having no jurisdiction on the river it follows that the market clerks are not entitled by law to exercise any of their powers on steamboats.

(signed) Rene Roy
